Taylor

Taylor Swift stands at a once-in-a-generation moment: not just as a pop star, but as a songwriter, businesswoman and cultural figurehead. This documentary tells the story of how she got here. It's a cinematic, emotional, and deeply human portrait of the most deeply beloved—and most scrutinised—pop artist of our time. From her childhood to today, the film digs deep across her 20-year career, using rare early tapes and insight from significant cultural voices, industry insiders and fans. Her journey has been epic, and this documentary reflects all the joy and artistry, heartbreaks and high stakes, of her stunning career, while showing viewers sides of Taylor Swift that they might not know or expect.

Death In The Wild

DEATH IN THE WILD is a chilling series exploring real-life crimes in the wilderness. While remote forests, campgrounds or national parks are beautifully scenic and can offer an escape from the daily grind, their distance from civilization often leaves victims helpless to call for help. Each episode of DEATH IN THE WILD follows a group of people whose outdoor escape turns deadly – whether at the hands of a mysterious stranger, or a loved one driven by jealousy, greed or hidden grudges. With powerful stories from family, friends and investigators, and shocking twists and turns, this series will take you to some of the most scenic places on earth – while unexpected peril lurks in the shadows of the great outdoors.

The Psychic Swindle

French psychic Maria Duval seems to have it all—fame, wealth, and adoration. She gains international recognition for helping find more than a dozen missing people, predicting lottery numbers, and advising politicians and celebrities. But her insatiable desire for more riches leads her to a fateful business partnership with entrepreneur and copywriter Patrice Runner. It was a perfect match as Runner, like Duval, wanted a lifestyle full of luxury and excitement. THE PSYCHIC SWINDLE unravels the intricate mail-order psychic scam that duped millions of people worldwide over 20 years. Through meticulous investigations, exclusive archive and intimate interviews, the film exposes how this exploitation of human hopes and fears resulted in one of the largest psychic scams in history, culminating in a global manhunt and a high-profile criminal trial. THE PSYCHIC SWINDLE is a fascinating deep dive into the world of ruthless scammers who are always ready to pounce on innocent victims.

Murder In Mind

MURDER IN MIND examines the psychological forces behind real-life killings. Each episode focuses on a single case, examining the perpetrator's path to murder through interviews with detectives, survivors, friends, and family. Psychologists and criminologists break down how trauma, red flags, and poor decisions escalated into fatal outcomes. Diaries, social media posts, and personal recordings from the killers themselves provide haunting insight into their state of mind. Respectful to victims, yet unflinching in its exploration, this series seeks to understand how these complex psyches could hold the key to preventing future tragedies.

Never Get Busted!

Barry Cooper is an expert at hiding drugs, evading police, and raising hell! But once upon a time he was a decorated narcotics officer at the forefront of the War on Drugs in Texas. After a botched raid leaves a family destroyed, his conscience flips, and he quits the force. Falling in love with a weed dealer, Barry has a life-changing epiphany: he's been fighting for the wrong side. Using stolen police tapes, including his own dash cam footage, he creates a series teaching drug users how to hide their stash—and becomes a media sensation. His defiance sparks backlash from law enforcement, leading Barry to expose police corruption and crooked cops on camera. This thrilling documentary blends home videos, covert recordings, and vivid animation to track Barry's descent into chaos, with a killer soundtrack that pulses with his wild journey. Executive Produced by Chris Smith (Tiger King) and John Battsek (Wham, Beckham).

The Killer You Know

When it comes to murder, the biggest threat isn't from a complete stranger – it's often right in front of you. Contrary to popular belief, most people aren't murdered by a random psychopath, but rather by someone the victim knows well. A spouse, a coworker, a jealous ex – these are people that were once loved and trusted, held close to the victim's heart. But relationships sometimes sour and resentment can take root. And sometimes love and affection can turn into murder. Each episode of this series shows three gripping stories of the ultimate betrayal by THE KILLER YOU KNOW.

Money For Nothing

Entrepreneur Sarah Moore collaborates with expert restorers, upcyclers and craftspeople and travels to recycling centres to save objects from being dumped into landfills. Sarah transforms them into valuable pieces, making money for people who had no idea there was cash to be made from their trash. The items are improved beyond recognition and given a bespoke edge, which in turn gives them a higher value. Any profit made on the products sold is returned to the original owners, truly giving them MONEY FOR NOTHING.

Big Cats, Small World

On the shores of Botswana's Gomoti River, Africa's three Big Cats have made themselves at home. This summer, as some embark on a journey to parenthood; others are nearing its end. An aging lion has his hands full with new cubs, and rivals that could kill them; a cheetah mother is racing to get her five cubs to independence, while a male leopard embarks on a bumpy journey to fatherhood. Winter floods bring opportunity, and tragedy to the lions, and challenge the young cheetahs adjusting to life without their mother. In the woodlands nearby, a leopard mother battles to protect her cubs against intruders. To succeed, all of these cats must use their unique skills to avoid lethal encounters, outsmart rivals, and thrive in a crowded neighbourhood.

Gladiators

Across the planet, there are animals born to fight and destined to face their foe. Armed with weaponry, guile and tactics, these gladiators are destined to do battle. Some are fighting for territory, others for access to food or a mate; but ALL are fighting for the same ultimate prize – survival. GLADIATORS is set in iconic and diverse battlefields: the wide open Outback, the vast plains of the Serengeti, the rugged heights of the Rockies and the life-rich Rainforest. Battles are dissected moment by moment in stunning slow motion, revealing astonishing details of unseen strategy, bravery and strength. These stories are about much more than just the fight - they are packed with context and character, unlocking the secrets of the ecosystem and the gladiators themselves. These battles will shape the destinies of all our characters, whether victorious or defeated. Only champions will reign supreme.

America's Wild Seasons

AMERICA'S WILD SEASONS is a landmark four-part documentary series that celebrates the drama and spectacle of the American wilderness. Captured over the course of a full year, on the ground, in the air and beneath the waves to weave tales of the diverse and iconic American landscape and the distinctive wildlife that call it home. AMERICA'S WILD SEASONS tells the story of a country that is varied and extreme, where seasonal trials are as big and amplified as the land itself.

Wild Dog Island

WILD DOG ISLAND follows a bold conservation experiment in Zimbabwe aimed at rewilding six orphaned African wild dogs—also known as painted dogs—one of the continent's most endangered carnivores. Orphaned through snares, disease, and habitat loss, these animals are raised in captivity and selected by the Painted Dog Conservation Project for a high-stakes release into the wild. Led by conservationist Greg Rasmussen, with support from Peter Blinston, Jealous Mpofu, and Xmas Mpofu, the team attempts to form a functioning pack, however, the wild proves unpredictable. Wild Dog Island is a powerful story of resilience, loss, teamwork, and the transformative potential of human dedication to wildlife conservation.

River Battlefront

In the heart of Africa, two giants—the hippopotamus and the Nile crocodile—are forced to share the same shrinking waterways. Shaped by shifting seasons, these rivers are lifelines for countless species, yet they also become battlegrounds under the sun's relentless heat. As water levels fall, tensions rise, and a fragile peace can quickly spiral into violent conflict. Every remaining pool becomes fiercely contested territory, where survival depends on strength, strategy, and timing. In this river world, one misstep can trigger all-out war, as two of Africa's most powerful animals are pushed ever closer when the dry season sets in.

Crocs Of Katuma

CROCS OF KATUMA follows a mother Nile crocodile in Tanzania's Katavi National Park as she struggles to raise her young in a harsh, seasonal environment. From courtship to guarding her eggs and guiding her vulnerable hatchlings to water, her journey is filled with danger—monitor lizards, fish eagles, and rival predators all threaten her offspring. As the river dries, she shelters in a mud cave, conserving energy until the rains return. The film reveals her critical role in the ecosystem, blending ancient instinct with modern survival. It's a gripping tale of resilience, sacrifice, and the fight for life in the wild.

Tombs Of Egyptian Princesses

A team of Egyptian archaeologists has discovered a previously unknown cemetery that opens a window onto a unique period in the history of ancient Egypt - a time when the country was ruled by rich and powerful princesses, "The God's Wives of Amun." We follow the excavation of the tombs in real time and witness the discovery of amazing artifacts belonging to these elite women. It was a time when Egypt was ruled by the Kushites from Nubia. To cement their rule, the Nubian kings sent their wives and daughters to rule over their new Egyptian conquests. These women embraced the local culture and religion and became known by the name of the all-powerful Egyptian god Amun. They ruled like kings, but having female rulers empowered women throughout Egyptian society. Through the discoveries in the cemetery, we explore one of the most mysterious periods of Egyptian history, when power was in the hands of women.

Tut's Treasures

Howard Carter's discovery of Tutankhamun's tomb in 1922 made headlines across the world sparking a global frenzy for Ancient Egypt. Over the decades since the find, many of the pharaoh's priceless grave goods have disappeared into museum basements and archives across Egypt. Now all 5,398 objects are being reunited for the first time since their discovery at the new Grand Egyptian Museum. Many have never been seen before but together they shed new light on the short, eventful life of the so-called 'Boy King' and are now helping experts realise the sheer scale of Tutankhamun's influence in the ancient world.

Ultimate Tutankhamun

Nearly a century after Howard Carter's momentous discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamun, Egyptologist Dr Chris Naunton returns to Carter's vast excavation files. Hidden amongst thousands of notes he has uncovered clues that point to a mysterious burning of the Boy King's mummy. But this mystery of the burnt mummy also provides a fresh new clue to the greatest enigma of Ancient Egypt – what caused the young pharaoh's death. Combined with new, historical evidence of Tutankhamun leading the charge in Egypt's foreign wars, what emerges is a new image of this young ruler – and a tragic death.

We're All Plastic People Now

It's in the air, it's in the water, it's buried in our soil and hidden inside the food we eat. In an era of throw-away ease, convenience has cost us our well-being. Plastics have been found inside our bodies - in our colons, our brains, in developing embryos and even in breast milk. The film explores world renowned scientist's research on plastic found in our bodies, as well as the possible connection between plastic pollution and dementia.

Matthew Perry: A Hollywood Tragedy

On October 28, 2023 the world learned of beloved actor Matthew Perry's shocking death. Best known for his role in long-running sitcom Friends, Perry's memoir revealed a long battle with addiction, and when ketamine was found in his system, many assumed he had died from an overdose. However, nearly a year later, a bombshell emerged: five people—including Perry's personal assistant, two doctors, and a Hollywood drug dealer—were charged with conspiring to illegally provide him with ketamine. This documentary weaves Perry's rise to fame with the tragic events leading to his final days, as he allegedly received ketamine from individuals "who should have known better." Perry's castmates, family, friends, law enforcement, and a brutally honest Perry himself tell this epic Hollywood story.

He Said, She Said: Blake Lively vs Justin Baldoni

When director Justin Baldoni announced that A-List actress Blake Lively would be the star of his film adaptation of the hit book "It Ends With Us," social media went wild with anticipation. But the controversy that has engulfed the film has threatened to eclipse its message about domestic violence. Four months after the film's release, Lively stunned Hollywood with a legal complaint, alleging that Baldoni engaged in sexual misconduct on set, and that he'd then hired a PR firm to engage in an online smear campaign against her to keep her quiet. Baldoni denied the allegations, and soon responded with a $400 million countersuit, accusing Lively of defamation and of trying to take over creative direction of the film. HE SAID, SHE SAID: BLAKE LIVELY VS JUSTIN BALDONI examines all of the scandalous evidence in this gripping case. Who will you believe?

Taking Venice

It's 1964, the Cold War is raging, and the US sets its sights on a new front: the art world. At the prestigious Venice Biennale, a covert cultural campaign unfolds. A savvy Washington insider enlists a rising curator to organize America's entry. Teaming up with a legendary dealer, they launch an audacious plan to make Robert Rauschenberg—an unorthodox artist using pop culture imagery and street junk—the grand prize winner. As the competition heats up, the team's behind-the-scenes tactics echo a Hollywood thriller. When Rauschenberg wins, the art world erupts—and the artist is left questioning the political agenda behind his triumph.

The Spoils

THE SPOILS explores the ongoing battle over the restitution of Nazi-looted art, set against the rise of the far-right in Germany and the resurgence of post-WW2 art collections on the global market. The film focuses on the struggle over ownership, history, and morality, centered around failed efforts in Düsseldorf to honor German-Jewish art dealer Max Stern. Stern, who escaped the war, became Canada's most successful art dealer. Through exclusive interviews and rare archival footage, THE SPOILS uncovers the tragic, ironic, and often contentious journey of reclaiming stolen cultural treasures.

The 'A' Word: America's War On Women

On June 24, 2022, America's Supreme Court voted on a decision that would impact the futures of millions of people. In THE A-WORD, we meet those most vulnerable to America's abortion bans, and the medics who risk committing felonies to save them. Shadowing multiple abortion clinics, we track patients forced to travel the length of the USA to get needed care. We meet abortion providers who are so terrified they tuck firearms into their scrubs. Through this, we explore the Christian nationalist movement behind it all. Abortion - a word so stigmatized that it has become impossible to say - has divided this nation. Two years on, the fight over the "A-Word" has become a battle for freedom, equality and healthcare itself.

The Dawn Wall

Rock climbers Tommy Caldwell and Kevin Jorgeson captivated the world with their effort to climb THE DAWN WALL - a seemingly impossible 3,000 foot rock face in Yosemite National Park. The pair lived on the vertical cliff for weeks, igniting a frenzy of global media attention. For Caldwell, this was the culmination of a lifetime defined by overcoming obstacles. At age 22, he was taken hostage by rebels in Kyrgyzstan. Shortly after, he lost his index finger in an accident. When his marriage fell apart, he escaped the pain by fixating on the extraordinary goal of free climbing the Dawn Wall. Blurring the line between dedication and obsession, Caldwell and Jorgeson spent years meticulously plotting and practicing their route. On the final attempt, with the world watching, Caldwell is faced with a moment of truth. Should he abandon his partner to fulfill his ultimate dream, or risk his own success for the sake of their friendship?

The Climber

At age 20, Thomas Bubendorfer revolutionized extreme climbing; today, almost 40 years and two near-death accidents later, he remains one of the world's elite mountaineers. THE CLIMBER follows Thomas as he attempts a remarkable challenge: tackling the unclimbed East Face of Denali in Alaska, an extremely remote and dangerous route on North America's tallest mountain - a climb that has defeated him twice before. Unlike many climbing films that focus primarily on the climb, this is also a very personal film about motivation. Why does Thomas climb, what sacrifices are the people around him forced to make? Interviews and revealing personal archive paint a picture of a man wrestling with his identity while chasing greatness in a death-defying sport.

Tralala

TRALALA is an animated pre-school series about an imaginative seven-year-old whose exuberant perspective on the world brings joy and excitement to everyday life. Days are never dull in a world where cloud-sheep sing, hills talk, and everyday moments blossom into fanciful adventures. Tralala loves making up songs with her Dad about the little things that make life special. When not with her Dad, she loves to spend time with her friends Batty a boisterous bat, Erik a musical seal, and a talking tree who likes to draw and eat cheese sandwiches. TRALALA is a safe and friendly world that celebrates the bond between parent and child and what happens when you take a moment to stop and observe the simple pleasures in everyday life.

All-Round Champion

In the ultimate sporting showdown, ten of the best teen athletes step outside of their own comfort zones and compete against each other in their rivals' sports. Each athlete sits out the competition in their own specialty sport, and instead mentors and coaches the others. Aided by world-renowned sports stars and Olympians, they are scored on skill, sportsmanship, and progress after each challenge. At the end of the series, one hardcore athlete will be crowned the ALL-ROUND CHAMPION. It's an emotional and challenging journey of winning, losing, working as a team, and building relationships with peers. It's a competition that is as much a test of strength and skill as mental tenacity and preparedness. Who will come out on top?

Prank You

Nothing is sacred and no one is safe. Join the prank squad as they embark on the most wildly inventive and absurd pranks ever seen on television. If you thought Punk'd was elaborate, wait until you see how far the scheming hosts of PRANK YOU will go to one-up each other. No shame and no mercy are the only rules, and if you are "in" on the joke, chances are, it is just the beginning.
